

Marwen

At Marwen, We Believe:

- Young people have critical and vital stories to tell
- Young people have the power to imagine and create our future
- Art is a tool for connection, healing, growth, and justice
- Artists drive and create social change
- Access to art and creativity is an essential human right and need

Imagination

Young people have the power to imagine and create our future

Collaboration

Artists drive and create social change

Joy

Art is a tool for connection, healing, growth, and justice

Belonging

- Access to art and creativity is an essential human right and need

Lived Experience

- Young people have critical and vital stories to tell